

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JUNE 17.

NATIONAL DEBTS.—Nearly every nation in the world is either a borrower or a lender, and the startling declaration is made by a writer in the London Daily Telegraph that the world, "regarded in the mass is living beyond its means." During the ten years ending with 1872, while England reduced her debt $175,000,000, and Holland hers by about $30,000,000, there was an increase, in some cases exceeding large, in the debts of the United States, France, Italy, Spain, Russia, Turkey, Austria Hungary, Egypt, Brazil, Portugal and Peru, to say nothing of other nations which are comparatively small debtors. France has gone deeper, increasing her liabilities by about $2,500,000,000 in the decade. The editor of "Europa and the Funds," a well known book of reference in England, estimates the total increase in the aggregate of national debts for the years from 1862 to 1872 at nearly $10,000,000,000, while an additional sum of $5,000,000,000 is estimated to have been raised for joint stock companies. The figures necessary to express the total volume of the world's indebtedness, public and private, would represent a sum almost incomprehensible.

According to the reports from Gloucester, Massachusetts, the fishing season has opened vigorously. The fishermen are in high spirits, and there is promise of an abundant catch. The southern mackerel fleet were arriving freely and operating tolerably well, and the haul of codfish at St. George's Bank and Grand and Western Banks had been large.
